Profile

Sandra Louis White is an illustrator and graphic designer from Vancouver, British Columbia. Her unique drawing style is whimsical; yet adaptable to the varied disciplines her clients engage in. Design begins with a pencil or a mouse, generating the idea into tangible objects or images to improve how we live and feel.

Education

Emily Carr University: Presently upgrading Adobe cs4, inddesign, photoshop and illustrator through continuing studies.

Emily Carr University: Bachelor of Communication Design 2010

Emily Carr University: Diploma in Graphic Design

University of British Columbia: Bachelor of Art Education: 5 YR. Professional Standing

Experience

Sandra's experience as a freelance designer and illustrator has covered a variety of clientele whereby a message is visually defined and delivered. She is as capable of working independently as she is being an illustrator to others working in a parallel manner needing drawing or design to make an impact. Her work helps her clients by elevating their form, image and context of what they do with style. She gives back through charity and volunteer; rarely saying no to helping a student realize their potential in any project her abilities fall in line with.
